TRAINING NOTICE

THE IN-HOUSE COUNSEL AND LITIGATION: EMERGING BEST PRACTICES (3 LSK CPD POINTS)

DATES: 1st-5th December, 2025

VENUE: MOMBASA

ABOUT THE COURSE

In 2021, the School ran its inaugural Litigation Refresher Course for In-house Counsel. The Course had the objective of building the capacity of counsel working in State corporations to implement the advisory dated 6th April 2017 by the Honourable the Attorney General of the Republic of Kenya that State corporations should use internal legal capacity in routine and non-complex matters or litigation, and particularly where a State corporation sues or is sued as a principal party and is not conflicted, or is sued or sues as a nominal party.

In the 2022 edition of the Course, the emphasis was on equipping in-house counsel or other counsel acting for an individual or corporate client with skills to effectively put across before a relevant forum their client's case.

In 2023, the Course placed emphasis on equipping in-house counsel within State corporations, private corporations and counsel representing these corporations, with skills to effectively put across their client's case in a digital litigation environment, from online filing, service on the digital platform, to online hearings and delivery of rulings and judgments on the digital platform.

The 2024 edition of the Course focused on equipping counsel in County Governments with skills to boost the internal representation capacity of County Governments.

In 2025, the course is titled "In-house Counsel and Litigation: Emerging Best Practices". The Course aims at bringing awareness to the participants on emerging best practices that facilitate faster resolution of disputes that led to litigation; harnessing technology for easier understanding and synthesizing of issues by parties involved and adopting more efficient case management styles.
