GOAL OF TRAINING

The Constitution of Kenya 2010 established a new order pursuant to which society must respond by relooking at the existing laws and policies and developing new legislative agenda to align with its dictates. Some laws are now obsolete; some require reform. Regulation-making authorities need to develop capacity to draft appropriate regulations to implement new or old legislation. There is a need to have a cadre of persons who can scrutinise Bills and contribute to their betterment. There is a close correlation between policy and legislation, hence a policy-maker needs to understand the legislative process. Modern drafting has evolved in style and content and every drafter or policy-maker must keep pace with developments in this discipline.

This course seeks to build capacity to effectively deal with the listed need.
